

Introduction

Everyone has a story to tell. The individual story cannot be separated from the collective story. It is all One. This is a valid reason to learn what truth is and then take action for the sake of physical evolution and for the sake of the soul. Through learning from the past and living consciously in the moment, we create a brilliant future. My chronicle has as its foundation a personal connection with the Divine. The connection is alive with holistic thought forms, inspiration, knowledge, transformation and healings that communicate Living Light, the geometries of the soul. The communication is fully experienced within the mind of my higher Self and not subject to any retinal image. The story of all souls is a spiritual liberation where we eventually go beyond the “closed structure” of the physical world.

An important step forward in not suppressing the spirit is to choose to make a commitment to seek our inner Self. I believe, if given a chance, human beings can be magnificent. To evolve, changes are required. Real change begins when we successfully incorporate a high degree of peace, order and harmony within as well as without. Truthful living is experienced when we are willing and ready to leave the self-created abyss of neglect, soul ignorance and disbelief behind. As we struggle between the needs of modern world issues and the needs of the soul, we must be willing to explore truth. Truth is power.

To survive as a race, we must awaken from the sleep of forgetfulness. We can no longer indulge in the leisure of being ordinary. By offering glimpses into my spiritual journey, hopefully you will be inspired with the truth and wonder that is available to every soul. You will be encouraged to think in divine pictures, a non-linear way of thought. The divine language is a linkage between heaven and earth.

It is in our power to regenerate ourselves as well as the Earth. To be successful, we must understand the science of creation and our relationship to the Whole. The Whole is not only that which is seen in our world; it is tangible life in other worlds as well as the invisible worlds of a vast hierarchy of creativity. To joyfully transform the physical into the holy and infuse the holy into the mundane, conscious action is required.

Action is successful when it is supported by the power and knowledge of Light. We receive knowledge and stop violating spirit when we are energized and aligned with the Great Work.

Humanity has been duped mentally, physically and materially. We can no longer afford to wear blindfolds. Hopefully, the words herein will offer a clear perspective of humankind's identity, potential and eventual victory. There are steps we can take now to create a future world of light, love, beauty and truth. We can move forward with confidence and understanding when we are willing to be open to truth by deliberately seeking and daily living it. We are then able to move forward with confidence and understanding.

Let us use free will to create harmony and radiate truth. We are not alone. What we choose affects all life, seen or unseen, known or unknown. As we do not see the Sun in the dark of the night, the many do not see Divine Light in the midst of darkness. The beauty of our journey is the ability to be aware of a loftier reality when we put our mind to it.

Throughout these pages you will read about the importance of making a conscious contact with the energy of the Ineffable Light. The Light has mysterious qualities that produce unaccountable effects. It is a true science that exposes the illusion. It is magic in the sense that it goes beyond the physical or material. Soul faculties must be sufficiently developed to perceive a subtle reality. Workable suggestions are offered to help mold the mind to that point in consciousness where you will joyfully experience the eternal Self. This leap in consciousness will increase personal energy and move you into a permanent intimacy with the One Supreme Indescribable Creator. My intention is to offer hope and give proven suggestions that will enable you to understand and know how to work with the Light using an educated mind that comprehends a higher wisdom and love.

As a higher reality is revealed, you will be eager to make spiritual Light an actuality in your life, if it is not already. As I was writing the above, a recollection of a past practical revelation came to mind. My children and I were staying in a cabin high on a hill at a church summer camp in Wisconsin. A long dirt path led up to our "tree house." There was a sharp drop by the side of the cabin and the treetops from below surrounded us. One night we joined other campers in the valley for a social activity. It was late when the program ended. Without a flashlight and not having my glasses, the return walk to the cabin became a challenge.

As the three of us were struggling up the hill in total darkness, I was thinking how nice it would be if I could actually see where I was going. Immediately, the entire area became lit as if the noonday sun was shining full force. The landscape looked like ethereal waves of light. I clearly saw everything and everyone. Excitedly, I asked the children, “Do you see the Light?” No one had. For one startling moment, the opaque veil of illusion covering limited physical sight was removed and another reality was exposed. An existence of beauty and purity was revealed through an inward flash. The intelligent dimension of Light obliged my wish to see, making the path ahead safely visible with its brilliance.

As you join us on this journey of love, you will be eager to expand God’s Light as an actuality in your life. It is our life force. Together, let us be free from collective mesmerism and move past being a slave to spiritual ignorance and being controlled by the physical substance of a passing world. The journey is about our original spiritual blueprint and how to walk trustingly through the inner door and reclaim it. The view offered is through personal experience, interpretation and a continuation of the ancient wisdom science applied in our world today.

The science of Spirit re-energizes and empowers us through lost and rejected knowledge. Before we can move forward, we must accept. This is a call for a renewal of our culture. The task of evolution is our responsibility. It depends on our spiritual reality and sacred unity.

Learn to love truth for its own sake. Allow the soul to express freely and revelation becomes the disclosure of the soul. May the words within lift the veil of forgetfulness offering hope, comfort and truth to the inquiring mind. Great is the soul of man. It believes in itself. It calls the Light its own. Its beauty is immense. The life force within is the selfless love that circulates throughout creation. May God fire your heart with joy and set you free to claim the hidden treasures of your true identity as spirit in form.
